ATTENDANCE AND MAKE-UP TEST POLICIES: Prompt attendance is expected. Repeated tardiness, particularly if it disrupts the class, may result in sanctions.

No makeups for quizzes. Makeups for midterms must be arranged in advance and be for good cause (instructor’s judgment is final). If for good cause you cannot take the final exam, you must request a grade of “I” as soon as you are aware that you will not be able to take it (but not before Monday, November 10, 2003). The grade of “I” will not be granted unless you have a good reason and are doing passing work at the time of the request.

Cheating will not be tolerated. See the policy on Academic Dishonesty,

Midterms: There will be two midterms, the first on Monday, September 29, and the second on Monday, October 27.

Homework: Homework will be assigned but not collected. Problems on quizzes and exams will often be similar to assigned homework problems.

Calculators: The text contains some problems designed for the TI-83 Plus graphing calculator. A sampling of these may be assigned, but will not appear on quizzes or examinations. No calculators will be permitted on quizzes or exams.
You do not need to buy this calculator unless you want to.

GRADING POLICY: Your grade will be based on the final exam (40%), the midterms (20% each), and the quizzes (20% total for all quizzes). The grading scale will be 90% - A, 80% - B, 70% - C, 60% - D, <60% - F. In the event that examinations prove more difficult than predicted, the instructor reserves the option to make adjustments to the grading scheme, but no student will receive a lower grade than specified here.
NOTE: you cannot under any circumstances pass the class without taking the final exam.
